

What's your dream for Wichita?

Protect our environment?
Revitalize our neighborhoods?
Optimize our health and well-being?
Strengthen our local economy?

Make them all come true for Wichita...

Dream Big.
Dream Together.
Dream in Green.

It's true. Studies have shown that Parks, Recreation, and Open Space provide all kinds of benefits – social, environmental, health, educational, and economic – to both individuals and communities.

Come find out how.

Join us for this five-part speaker series and share YOUR DREAM for Wichita's Parks, Recreation, and Open Space for the next 20 years.
FREE, OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Thursday, March 29, 7:00 p.m.
WSU Metroplex, Lowe Auditorium, 5015 E. 29th St.

Nancy D. Rottle, RLA, ASLA

Nancy Rottle is an assistant professor in Landscape Architecture at University of Washington. With more than 15 years as a landscape architect, she's led a wide range of projects from regional open space planning to design of major park and visitor facilities. Professor Rottle frequently leads university studios that engage citizens to proactively solve problems and recently co-directed Open Space Seattle 2100, a community-based process to develop a 100-year vision for Seattle's sustainable parks and open space.

Designing Parks, Recreation and Open Space for the 21st Century

Parks, Recreation and Open Space (PROS) impact the health, economy, sustainability, equitability and vitality of a community. Professor Nancy Rottle will show us trends for the 21st century, discuss opportunities and challenges, and provide examples of communities with inspiring PROS systems. She will share ideas about implementation and how citizens can and need to be involved. Come "Dream in Green" for Wichita today and for our children and grandchildren tomorrow.
